Author in the Room

Author in the Room is an interactive conference call aimed at closing the gap between knowledge—what is published in a JAMA article—and action—how much of this knowledge can be put into your actual practice. This monthly call, held with the author of the month's chosen article and facilitated by clinical experts, should help readers answer their questions and consider the implications of the study results for their practice. We will be studying the degree to which readers who participate report implementing this change within their practice.

Author in the Room is brought to you by JAMA and the Institute for Healthcare Improvement, with generous support from The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

You can register for the monthly calls, listen to calls from past months, and read the online discussion that followed by going to <http://www.ihl.org/IHL/Programs/ConferencesAndTraining/Author+in+the+Room.htm>.
